

Despite her young age, Victoria Power is one of Stockholms most sought after piano teachers. She's been studying both at the Royal College of Music in London with professor Irina Zaritskaya (post graduate diploma) and Edsbergs Music Institute in Stockholm with professor Greta Erikson (soloist and chamber music diploma). Since 1998 she has been teaching piano at the music school Lilla Akademien in Stockholm, where she during the years has had a lot of students who have won first prizes at international and national piano competitions. Aside from her work as a teacher, she is also a very engaged soloist, chamber musician, composer and arranger.
