

个人介绍

Born in 2001, Haohan Wang studied under Professor Xiaolu Zhang, saxophone player and educator, director of jazz teaching and Research Department of Shanghai Conservatory of music.

He began to learn saxophone at the age of 10.

At the age of 15, he was admitted to the attached high school of Shangyin. He achieved excellent results in school, was good at jazz and classical performance, and won the gold medal in the professional group in the yuequ Saxophone summer camp competition.

At the age of 18, he was admitted to the Jazz Saxophone major of the Department of Shanghai Conservatory of music with excellent results, and served as a saxophone player in the Jazz Orchestra of Shanghai Conservatory of music. During my freshman year, I won the second place of "Jazz professional group" in the fifth Berlin International Music Competition.